The Mark Twain Circle and American Humor Studies Association will co-sponsor a suite at the 1997 MLA conference in Toronto. The suite will be in the Sheraton Center Hotel and Towers.

This year there is no formal paper reading scheduled; however, the suite will be the open on the evening of the 27th, 28th, and 29th for conversation and general mayhem. There will also be morning gatherings on the 28th and 29th. These will not start too early—academic events should never compete with morning cartoons.

Business meetings of the Circle and AHSA will be held in the suite—updated information regarding the schedule for those meetings will be available at the conference and will be announced at panels.

Individuals should take note of special dietary needs—beer nuts, domestic beer (we will be in Toronto after all), wine and cheese will be welcome contributions to break the stodginess. David Sloane will NOT be bringing his banjo—a sigh of relief is encouraged.

Two panels to be sponsored by the Mark Twain Circle at the MLA Toronto meeting:

Sunday, Dec. 28, 10:15–11:30 a.m.
Chair: Shelley Fisher Fishkin (U of Texas, Austin)
1. "Mark Twain's Puritan Dilemma," Charles Mitchell (Elmira C)

Tuesday, Dec. 30, 12:00–1:15 p.m.
Chair: Michael J. Kiskis (Elmira C)
1. "Rejected Gospels: The Boyhood of Jesus in Innocents Abroad," Hilton M. Obenzinger (Stanford U)

A Report from the Tahoe Conference

Victor Doyno
SUNY-Buffalo

Twinians were extraordinarily well represented at the recent ALA Trickster Conference. Well, of course! Could you easily imagine a literary conference on the Trickster which would NOT have any attention to Mark Twain?

Jeanne Campbell Reesman organized the convention, held at the Cal-Neva Resort. The arrangements included a trip to Virginia City, Nevada, where Twain once worked for the Territorial Enterprise.

The entire conference had many high points, including one session in which Dr. Robert Hirst of the Mark Twain Project explained some of the differences in the 1993 edition of Roughing It, the kinds of improvements which enabled the edition to win the MLA prize for outstanding scholarly edition.

In addition, Siva Vaidhyanathan (University of Texas) announced and explained what he had discovered: a previously unknown complete work by Mark Twain! The work deals with the complex problems of national copyright duration, complete with some drawings by Twain. The work is a philosophical, Socratic dialogue, and the first version names one speaker as an "ordinary ass." Appropriately enough, Twain uses some language about "claim-jumping" and literary theft that draws upon the Nevada days! We will await Siva’s publication for a chance to read and discuss in detail—with Twainians and all other Americanists—this funny, abrasive, satirical work.

Because McAvoy Layne attended and performed, Mark Twain himself was also in attendance.

A Disclaimer

This disclaimer is prompted by the note on page six of the January–March 1997 MT Circular which recommends reading an "oral history interview of Louis Budd in the Spring 1996 journal American Literary Realism."

In the introduction to that interview the transcriber submits that this was done “in consultation with his wife, Isabelle.” This implies approval which was not given by me. I do not wish to be used to authenticate any of the narrative that followed.

Current Mark Twain Bibliography

"Current Mark Twain Bibliography" is a means of giving notice of what's new in Mark Twain scholarship. Where annotations are used, they are in most cases descriptive blurbs provided by publishers (or in some cases, by authors) with value judgments edited out. If you have recently published something that you would like to have included in this list, send it to me by e-mail (leonardj@citadel.edu), or by other means.

American icon—but he had one identity that never altered: he was resolutely, inflexibly, unshakably a smoker. (36)

The article is the first of a two-part series. The editorial in this issue also contains a plea to save the imperilled Mark Twain Project:

The Mark Twain Project houses letters, manuscripts, dictations, notebooks, photographs, and literary fragments that are essential to scholars, and regularly publishes definitive versions of those works, as well as previously unpublished pieces. The tight focus of our article—Twain’s pipe smoking—would have been impossible without the Mark Twain Project’s ongoing publication of Twain’s letters and notebooks. (6)

A comprehensive analysis of the comic genius and narrative originality that makes Twain’s short fiction a cornerstone of the American literary tradition. Quirk's presentation of Twain's career as a writer of short fiction is complemented with selections of Twain's essays on writing. A collection of important critical essays rounds out this work. In part 1, Quirk examines Twain's career from the time Samuel Clemens adopted his pen name, in 1863, until the time of his death in 1910. Within this frame Quirk traces three creative periods: Twain's early years, during which he made a name for himself as a teller of tall tales with a talent for frontier humor; his middle years, during which he approached more serious themes and emerged as a prominent literary figure; and finally Quirk assesses what has been called Twain's "bad mood" period and argues for the persistence of Twain's remarkable literary gift, even in those final years filled with cynicism and despair. 1997 Fall Twain Symposium

BENEATH THE EAVES: The Science and History of Recreating Mark Twain’s Historic Site.

Saturday, November 8, 1997
The Mark Twain House
Hartford, Connecticut

The Mark Twain House’s 1997 Fall Twain Symposium, “Beneath the Eaves: The Science and History of Recreating Mark Twain’s Historic Site” will present in detail the 1997 Historic Structures Report currently guiding restoration of Mark Twain’s Victorian home, carriage house, and grounds. An architect, historian, and design specialist will reveal the results of their 1995-1996 investigation of The Mark Twain House. Their reports include extensive historical data about the construction and ownership of the house and grounds, as well as subsequent changes in the property. The Mark Twain House’s curator concludes the program revealing how these reports are being put into action at The Mark Twain House in Hartford, CT. The Mark Twain House is the author’s Hartford home, his primary residence from 1874 to 1891. A National Register Historic Landmark since 1963, the house was commissioned by Mark Twain (Samuel Langhorne Clemens), designed by Edward Tuckerman Potter and Alfred H. Thorp and decorated in 1881 by Louis Comfort Tiffany and Associated Artists. The Mark Twain House is open year-round, Monday and Wednesday through Saturday 9:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and noon to 5:00 p.m. on Sundays. The museum is open seven days a week from Memorial Day through October 15 and in December. The last tour leaves at 4:00 p.m. daily. For tour information, please call (860) 493-6411; for program information call (860) 247-0998.

The conference will be held at The Hastings Hotel and Conference Center 85 Sigourney Street (at Farmington Avenue) Hartford, CT, just four blocks east of The Mark Twain House.

[The above text was transcribed by Kevin Bochynski (for the Mark Twain Forum) from the Fall Twain Symposium brochure from The Mark Twain House.]

ABOUT THE CIRCULAR. The Mark Twain Circular, newsletter of the Mark Twain Circle of America, was launched in January 1987 by Thomas A. Tenney (Editor of the Mark Twain Journal). James S. Leonard (The Citadel) assumed editorial responsibility with the February 1987 Circular and has continued in that capacity until the present. The Circular is published four times per year (Jan.–March, April–June, July–Sept., and Oct.–Dec.), and is mailed, by the editor, to all members of the Mark Twain Circle. The Circular prints news of Mark Twain events and scholarship, directories of members, short biographical articles and critical commentaries, and current bibliography. Subscribers are distributed among 44 states and 17 foreign countries.

ABOUT THE CIRCLE. The Mark Twain Circle of America was formed at an organizational meeting held at the 1986 Modern Language Association convention in New York; the membership has since grown to approximately 400. Current officers are displayed on p. 8. Past Presidents are Louis J. Budd, Alan Gribben, Pascal Covici, Jr., David E.E. Sloane, and Victor A. Doyno. Past Executive Coordinators: Everett Emerson, James D. Wilson, Michael J. Kiskis, and Laura Skander-Trombley. Although many members are academic specialists, the Circle also includes many non-academic Twain enthusiasts. The Circle is in communication with other Mark Twain organizations, including those associated with sites important in his life, and cooperates with them.

ABOUT THE MARK TWAIN JOURNAL. Founded in 1936 by Cyril Clemens, the Mark Twain Journal is the oldest American magazine devoted to a single author. In 1982, the Journal moved to its present home in Charleston, S.C., under the editorship of Thomas A. Tenney. There are two issues per year, Spring and Fall, with a new volume each year (rather than every second year, as in the past). The Journal tends to appear late, and beg your patient indulgence. New subscribers may wish to begin with the 1995 issues rather than the 1997. Back issues from 13:1 to the present are available at $5.00 each, postpaid ($2.50 on orders for ten or more; pre-1983 issues are thinner than modern ones, and some are badly reprinted). An index 1936-83 counts as a back issue.
